HLTH AGE 4C03: Representations of Health and Illness Across the Life Course

HLTH AGE 4C03
Mondays 11:30–2:20 – KTH 107
Instructor: Dr. Myriam Nafte
Email: naftem@mcmaster.ca
Office: KTH 234
Office hours: Mondays TBD

Course Description
This course considers the effects and meanings generated by representations that speak for the body, particularly the impaired body of illness, the aging body, the body marked by disease and disability. We examine a number of disciplines including history of medicine, anthropology, aging studies, and sociology in order to examine the various ways our concepts of health, illness, and aging are shaped, circulated, and interpreted in contemporary Western society. Through weekly discussions, lectures, films, and in-class presentations, we explore the multiple meanings and theories assigned to health and illness, and translate their visual and literary representations.

This course requires that students actively engage and participate in class discussions, come prepared to present their topics, and do the required readings prior to attending class. A great class dynamic hinges entirely on students challenging various theories and assumptions, supporting their colleagues’ discussions with questions, insights and comments, and lastly, contributing to resource material with film clips, images, and other references during their own presentations.

Required Reading
All articles will be posted online

Films (to be screened in class)
- A Patch of Blue (USA 1965; Guy Green)
- Peacock (USA 2010; Michael Lander)
- The Colour of Beauty (Canada 2010; Elizabeth St. Philip)
Grade Distribution

- Participation/Attendance 20% (includes in-class work)
- Presentation 10%
- Two Media Assignments 30%
- Two Quizzes 40%

Participation
Participation grades are based on group work, activity and class discussions. It is vital that all students come prepared to discuss the weekly topics and readings. Engaged, thoughtful reactions to the presentations and discussion starters are essential. Students who are not presenting will be expected to actively discuss or challenge the issues raised by their colleagues.

Presentation (15 minutes)
Each student will present a topic for which they have signed up by the third week. These presentations should provide an overview of the topic, a critical response to the relevant reading materials, and integrate primary research data that the student has gathered. Students are expected to be attentive to representations of health and illness outside the classroom, collecting interesting texts, visual references, film clips, commercials, advertisements, images, newspaper reports, etc. that can enrich our understanding of the subjects discussed throughout the term. Consider how this material relates to any of the areas that we discuss as a class. It can examine for example, various diseases, concepts of the body, hygiene, mental illness, drug abuse, homelessness, dieting, medication, community, alcoholism, institutionalization, depression, suicide, and death. As a class, we would like to know what visual or literary strategies this material employs for its effects. Lastly, it will be essential for students to include one or two questions for the class. Students will be graded on the quality of their presentation, the materials used, and their level of interaction and engagement with the class. Please refer to the grading rubric for specific expectations. You must describe your theoretical perspective.

Media Assignments
Students will be given a series of questions to answer in response to films that are screened in class. There are set topics and theories relevant to the particular theme of that week which students are expected to describe.
Quizzes
These will be discussed in class and will be related directly to in-class lectures and assigned readings.

Late Assignment Policy
Essays must be submitted at the beginning of the class on the day they are due. Late assignments will be penalized 2% per day, for 7 days. Assignments more than one week overdue will not be accepted. Essays submitted on time will receive a letter grade and written comments; late assignments will receive minimal feedback.

Please Note: All materials, letters, documents for absences/missed work (due to family emergency, medical condition, etc.) must be directed to the Faculty of Social Sciences office.

THE UNIVERSITY REQUIRES INSTRUCTORS TO INCLUDE THE FOLLOWING ON COURSE OUTLINES.

The instructor and university reserve the right to modify elements of the course during the term. The university may change the dates and deadlines for any or all courses in extreme circumstances. If either type of modification becomes necessary, reasonable notice and communication with the students will be given with explanation and the opportunity to comment on changes. It is the responsibility of the student to check his/her McMaster email and course websites weekly during the term and to note any changes.

AVENUE TO LEARN

In this course we will be using Avenue to Learn. Students should be aware that, when they access the electronic components of this course, private information such as first and last names, user names for the McMaster e-mail accounts, and program affiliation may become apparent to all other students in the same course. The available information is dependent on the technology used. Continuation in this course will be deemed consent to this disclosure. If you have any questions or concerns about such disclosure please discuss this with the course instructor.
TURNITIN.COM

In this course we will be using a web-based service (Turnitin.com) to reveal plagiarism. Students will be expected to submit their work electronically to Turnitin.com and in hard copy so that it can be checked for academic dishonesty. Students who do not wish to submit their work to Turnitin.com must still submit a copy to the instructor. No penalty will be assigned to a student who does not submit work to Turnitin.com. All submitted work is subject to normal verification that standards of academic integrity have been upheld (e.g., on-line search, etc.). To see the Turnitin.com Policy, please go to www.mcmaster.ca/academicintegrity.

Students who do not wish to submit their work to Turnitin.com must notify the instructor prior to submitting their paper.

ACADEMIC DISHONESTY

You are expected to exhibit honesty and use ethical behavior in all aspects of the learning process. Academic credentials you earn are rooted in principles of honesty and academic integrity.

Academic dishonesty is to knowingly act or fail to act in a way that results or could result in unearned academic credit or advantage. This behavior can result in serious consequences, e.g. the grade of zero on an assignment, loss of credit with a notation on the transcript (notation reads: “Grade of F assigned for academic dishonesty”), and/or suspension or expulsion from the university.

It is your responsibility to understand what constitutes academic dishonesty. For information on the various types of academic dishonesty please refer to the Academic Integrity Policy, located at www.mcmaster.ca/academicintegrity.

The following illustrates only three forms of academic dishonesty:

1. Plagiarism, e.g. the submission of work that is not one’s own or for which other credit has been obtained.
2. Improper collaboration in group work.
3. Copying or using unauthorized aids in tests and examinations.
